Get medical attention
in a bicycle crash.

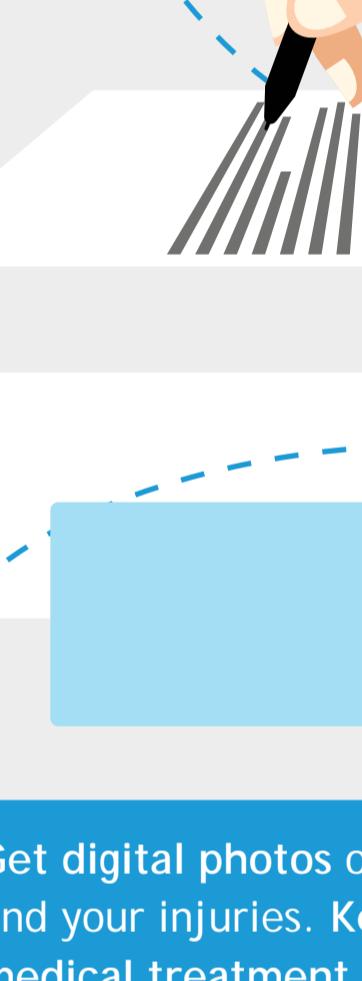

Seemingly small injuries from a bike crash may be much worse than they appear.

An illustration of a hand holding a pen, writing a dashed blue line on a white background.

The image consists of several graphical elements. On the far left, there is a cluster of approximately ten dark grey vertical bars of varying heights, creating a textured effect. To the right of this cluster, a thick blue dashed line starts at the top center and slopes downward towards the bottom right. Above the bars, a large, semi-transparent light grey triangle points downwards from the top center towards the middle of the cluster. The background is white, and the overall composition is minimalist and abstract.
